

Spelling Task B: [Week 1]

Task B

Proofreading

Interjections: An interjection is a word that shows feeling. It usually followed by an exclamation point. If an interjection begins a sentence, set it off with a comma.

Hooray! Tomorrow is a holiday!
Oh, I can hardly wait!

Practice: Correct the following selection on this sheet. Proofread this conversation for four misspelled words and two missing punctuation marks. Write the conversation correctly. Fill in the blanks and re-write it below.

Ed: Wow This spelling instruckion is difficult.
Ana: Oh did this lesson confuse you? Let's discuse it. Here's a sugestion! Write the rule, and then write the word that is an exception.
Ed: Now I should remember the corect spelling!

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.
- 1.
- 2.

Re-write the selection here...